

SARDINIA, BETWEEN SEA AND MOUNTAINS

From Gennargentu to the Gulf of Orosei

Sardinia offers walkers a fascinating landscape. It is also a veritable open-air museum where the remains of the Nuragic civilisation abound. Our trip to Sardinia begins in the heart of the island, in the Gennargentu, home to mouflons, golden eagles and wild peonies. The route then passes through the charming Sardinian town of Dorgali and the high karst plateaux of the Supramonte, before reaching the east coast with its small coast and its small white sandy coves, ideal for diving into the crystal-clear waters.

The ridge path takes us through extensive, wild landscapes. A favourite refuge for mouflons, the granite mountain is a favourite refuge for moufflons and boasts typical high-altitude flora. We leave for Dorgali, heading for the east coast of the island and the Flumineddu valley. In the isolated lands of the Supramonte, the route reaches Monte Tiscali, a high point in the history of the Nuragic civilisation. This unspoilt region of Sardinia was often ignored by the great Mediterranean civilisations. Ragged landscapes, tangled with cliffs and jagged ridges, rise up around the Tiscali sinkhole, in which a Nuragic refuge is nestled (visit not included). A visit to the domus of Janas de Biduai rounds off the hike. Travel to Dorgali and check into our accommodation for two nights. Picnic + half-board in a hotel ****

Among the water-worn boulders, the route penetrates the grey and orange stone walls at the narrowest point. You can swim in the pools of the Riu Flumineddu. In the afternoon, we reach our accommodation in Santa Maria Navarrese along the scenic and tourist route of Orientale Sarda. - 1 large sturdy plastic bag to wrap clothing and belongings in backpack (in case of heavy rain)

- 1 Swiss knife type folding knife + cutlery + cup
- 1 tupperware type bowl with lid for picnics
- toilet paper, tissue
- 1 pair of telescopic sticks, optional, but used to balance and lighten the weight of the body as it descends, and helps during the climb by rhythming the walk and as an additional push
- 1 pocket to hold your papers and values: passport or identity card, insurance contract, health card, vaccination certificate, plane tickets, train tickets, credit card, money...
- 1 small personal pharmacy (non-exhaustive list to be adapted according to your own medical needs): pre-cut sterile dressings, local antiseptic for external use (wounds), elastoplasty and/or double skin (ampoules), paracetamol analgesic type, Antidiarrheal and intestinal antiseptic, Antispasmodic, Antihistamine (allergies), physiological serum or eye drops, light sleeping pill, high protection sunscreen for the skin and lips, Biaffine type moisturizer (sunburn and burns), cream or antimoustitic spray, Arnica Montana in pellets 9 CH (soreness)...
