France's first national park, created in 1963, the Vanoise extends over an immense territory where everything has been preserved: fauna, flora and the mineral world. Departing from Pralognan-la-Vanoise (the tourist capital of the massif), this trip takes us on a tour of the 'Dômes de la Vanoise', a series of glaciers stretching over some twenty kilometres in the centre of the park. From the charming 'Lac des vaches' to the cosy Arpont refuge, from the 'Vallon d'Aussois' to the Gébroulaz glacier, this is a varied itinerary close to the great peaks to take in some of the most beautiful landscapes this massif has to offer.

You will love

- The wild, unspoilt landscape of France's first national park
- An exclusive tour of the Dômes de la Vanoise glaciers
- 2 nights in the traditional village of Pralognan-la-Vanoise
- Crossing the Col du Souffre along the Gébroulaz glacier
- The great variety of landscapes between the Maurienne and Tarentaise valleys
- No transfer during your trek for a full immersion
