

LOFOTEN, between sky and sea

Hiking with the midnight sun

Along the northern coasts of Norway, beyond the Arctic Circle, stand the spectacular islands of the Lofoten archipelago. Sharp mountains rising from the waves, between hidden creeks and roaring maelstroms, this ancestral territory of fishermen nevertheless enjoys the caresses of a benevolent Gulf Stream which offers it its surprisingly mild climate.

Ancient lands where legends were born, silent muses of mythological stories, the simple vision of these islands emerging from the boreal fog takes the traveler into the imagination of Viking sagas. During a week from islands to islands, solitary plateaus in primitive mountains, dominating azure bays and isolated hamlets under the amused eye of puffins and eagles, immerse yourself in the wild universe of this unique archipelago in the world.

The route

Day 1

FLIGHT AND ARRIVAL TO BODØ

Meeting at the airport in Bodø for the beginning of your stay.

Meeting with your guide in the small port town of Bodø. Depending on arrival times, city tour. Night at the hotel on the shores of the Norwegian Sea.

Day 2

FERRY TO THE LOFOTEN – HIKE AROUND THE ÅG VATNET LAKE

Boarding the ferry for a superb crossing of the Vestfjord, direction Lofoten and the island of Moskenesøya. Depending on the conditions, first easy hike around Lake Åg vatnet, in a wild valley between sea and mountains, or climb Andstabben (514m), with a magnificent panorama of the lake and the southern tip of the island of Moskenesøya. Settling down in Sørvågen for 2 nights in a Sjøhus, a traditional fisherman's house by the sea.

3h30 walk: Elevation: +/- 300m; 8km (Åg vatnet Lake)

4 h walk : Elevation: +/- 620m; 5km (Andstabben)

Day 3

VINDSTAD – BEACH OF BUNES – BRUNAKSELTINDEN

Departure by boat-taxi to the small village of Vinstad, a little corner of paradise inaccessible by road. Hike along the Bunesfjorden to a small pass overlooking the beautiful beach of Bunes. Climb to the top of Brunakseltinden (513m) to enjoy one of the most beautiful views of the archipelago over the Reinefjord. Return to Sørvågen accommodation.

3 h walk : Elevation +/- 600m / 8km

Day 4

KVALVIKA BAY – SUMMIT OF RYTEN

Discovery of Kvalvika Bay ("Whale Cove") with its white sand beach and granite cliffs. After enjoying the calm of the bay and its emerald waters, climb to Lake Forsvatnet and climb the summit of Ryten (543m). Transfer to the island of Vestvågøya to the charming little fishing port of Ballstad. Installation for 3 nights in Sjøhus, a traditional fisherman's house by the sea.

5 h walk : Elevation: +/- 760m; 9km

Day 5

PLATEAU OF BALLSTADHEIDA

A superb coastal hike between the sea and the typical Lofoten mountains. The route runs along the fjord, alternating panoramas of the archipelago and the mainland coasts of Norway, then climbs to a magnificent alpine plateau overlooking the bay. Opportunity to see seals near the Grænvika lighthouse. Return to Ballstad, overnight in Sjøhus.

4 h walk ; Elevation +/- 640m; 6.5km

Day 6

HAVEREN PEAK

Head to the far north of the island of Vestvågøya to climb the highest point of the stay! Located on a peninsula, Haveren (808m) looks like an impregnable fortress above the waves. Its ascent offers a beautiful variety of landscapes, between lakes, ridges and valleys. Return to Ballstad, overnight in Sjøhus.

5 h walk ; Elevation +/- 830m; 8km

Day 7

FROM MORTSUND TO EINANGEN BY THE BREIDTINDEN RIDGE

The week ends with a beautiful course of the island of Vestvågøya. Starting from the hamlet of Mortsund, the route follows a long and majestic line of ridges for a series of spectacular and varied landscapes, between fjords and large plains. Then return to Sørvågen to take the ferry back to the mainland. Night in a hotel in Bodø, in rooms. (The program of the hike may depend on the Ferry schedule)

3h30 walk ; Elevation +/- 630m; 5km

Day 8

RETURN FLIGHT

The stay ends after breakfast at the hotel.

Attention, in these latitudes more than elsewhere, the vagaries of weather and the conditions of certain routes can lead to a change in the programming of the stay. The guide will often have to adapt the program of the daily hikes on the spot, depending on the weather and the group.

The program has been drawn up according to the latest elements known at the time of its drafting; situations beyond our control can modify the course, in particular with regard to accommodation.

The trip

LEVEL ***

Elevation: from +/- 300m to +/- 800m per day

Walking time: 3 to 5 hours per day

Type of hike: The Lofoten are a hiking paradise thanks to their wild landscapes, but the paths and routes are not necessarily always well maintained or visible. Although most of the routes take classic mountain paths, this also means having to sometimes progress off the path in the middle of the moor and its vegetation, on more uneven ground. The relatively short profile of the hikes presented above should not be underestimated because of the varied terrain which can slow down and make progress more difficult. Some steep passages possible.

PHYSICAL CONDITION

Good general physical condition.

Recommended preparation: regular practice of walking, jogging, cycling... 2 to 3 hours of sport per week.

Being able to easily walk 15km (on the plain) in less than 3 hours.

CLIMATE ET CONDITIONS

Located beyond the Arctic Circle, the Lofoten archipelago is home to the largest positive temperature anomaly relative to latitude. Without the presence of the Gulf Stream bordering its coasts, this region would be covered only with rocks and ice. But the influence of the warm current and its extensions offer these islands a particularly mild climate, both in summer and winter. Between June and August, maximum temperatures can exceed 15°C, with averages of around 10°C.

Despite possible very rapid weather changes on these islands and in these latitudes, the period from May to June remains the driest of the year, and therefore the most suitable for hiking. However, it is important to be properly equipped against bad weather.

The month of June is the time of the summer solstice: between May 26 and July 17, the sun no longer descends below the horizon and allows you to admire the famous midnight sun. The sea temperature fluctuates around 10°C during this period.

GUIDE

Number of participants between 4 and 8 people supervised by a qualified professional (mountain guide).

ACCOMODATION

2 nights in a *** hotel in Bodø, in a twin or double room.

2 nights in Sjøhus, a renovated traditional fishermen's house, on the port of Sørvågen. 4 twin bedrooms with private bathrooms.

3 nights in Sjøhus, a renovated traditional fishermen's house, on the port of Ballstad. 4 twin bedrooms and two shared bathrooms. Possibility to reserve a Sauna and/or a Hot Tub (traditional outdoor hot bath).

The star stay and the choice of accommodation offer the possibility of being able to give up a stage depending on the fatigue of the participant and/or the weather conditions.

MEALS

For a stay with a guide, meals are included in the stay, except for dinners on Days 1 and 7, taken in town and at the expense of each person.

Possibility of half-board option from dinner on Day 2 to breakfast on Day 4 (see prices)

The guide takes care of the supplies and the meals can be prepared together in the kitchens of the accommodation.

Copious “Scandinavian” breakfasts based on local products. Lunches and picnics at noon are based on Scandinavian breads, cold cuts, smoked or marinated fish, local cheeses, fresh or dried fruit, biscuits and hot drinks.

For a few picnics, some freeze-dried dishes are possible, because they allow you to carry light and eat hot. In the evening, a hearty and convivial dinner based on specialties and local products: fish of course (the famous salmon but also cod, typical of Lofoten), meat (lamb, pork, reindeer, etc.), accompanied by vegetables, rice, pasta...
