LEVEL ****

Elevation: +/- 1000 m approximately per day.

Walking time: 6 to 7 hours per day.

Type of trek: mountain route on well-marked paths. A few airy sections that do not present any particular technical difficulty. The high cols are equipped with wooden steps. The difference in altitude and the length of some of the stages require a good level of mountain walking experience.

Good physical preparation is essential if you are to enjoy these beautiful 'haute randonnée' routes.

Practise an endurance sport regularly, such as walking, running or cycling, 6 to 8 hours a week. Your physical preparation will make your stay easier and help you to appreciate it even more.

Please find the description of the levels by clicking here: levels of difficulty

The route in general is well indicated, and the Roadbook provided sufficiently complete to allow you to hike in complete safety. However, it is essential to be able to read an 1:25,000 map and to be sufficiently autonomous in the mountains to be able to tackle the itinerary with confidence, whatever the weather (fog, snow, etc.).

You will be crossing areas with no telephone network. For your own safety, you may wish to bring along a radio or the latest generation telephone with a satellite connection.

Please note: some névés will be present on the paths until beginning of July as a minimum, in particular on the North slopes. High mountain boots, gaiters and walking poles are essential. Be prepared!
