

VANOISE - GRAN PARADISO

Wild borders between two National Parks

Founded in 1922, the Gran Paradiso National Park, first natural park in Italy and Europe, was created to protect wildlife and remains a safe haven and protective area plants and animals including: chamois, ibex, marmot, fox and vultures. This park sits alongside its little brother in France, the Vanoise National Park. Both of them together offer a protective area of over 1200 km².

Between the parks is a large natural mountainous barrier, traversed by high mountain passes. This tour makes the most of the rarely frequented wilderness and unmarked trails. A physical tour with basic mountain comfort offering a real immersion into this virgin mountain space.
